THE HISTORY PART ONE

THE SHIP: USS FOX (CG 33)

USS FOX (CG 33), a Josephus Daniels class guided missile cruiser, was launched on November 21, 1964, at Todd Shipyard in San Pedro, California. The ship was commissioned at Long Beach Naval Shipyard on May 28, 1966, and is assigned to the Pacific Fleet. USS FOX (CG 33) is in Cruiser Destroyer Group Three.

FOX is the third naval vessel to be named after Gustavus Vasa Fox, President Lincoln's Assistant Secretary of the Navy during the Civil War. Through Secretary FOX's encouragement, the Navy was committed to the use of "Iron-sides", and he was responsible for having naval engineering added to the curriculum at the U.S. Naval Academy. The first vessel to be named after Secretary Fox was Torpedo Boat 13, commissioned in July, 1899. It served as an experimental vessel until decommissioned in 1916. The second vessel to named after the Secretary was the destroyer FOX (DD 234), commissioned in May, 1920. It served the Navy faithfully for 25 years from Constantinople to Dutch Harbor.

The current FOX is one of the Navy's most modern and complex warships. She is 547 feet long, 55 feet wide, and has a full load displacement of 7,900 tons; her speed is in excess of 30 knots.

Armament includes anti-submarine (ASROC) and anti-air (TERRIER) guided missiles. FOX was the first ship in the Pacific Fleet with the capability of launching both missile types from the same launcher system. The dual-purpose launcher increases stowage capability and a protected magazine. The missile systems onboard FOX can automatically locate, track, and engage enemy aircraft at extremely long distances. With the help of computer techniques, they can destroy the enemy before he can get within range of a carrier task force that FOX is designated to protect.

The ship is further equipped with two quadruple-canister HARPOON surface-to-surface missile launchers, a five inch-54 caliber gun, two MK 32 over-the-side torpedo launchers and Vulcan Phalanx (Close in Weapon System). Detection Equipment includes the AN/SQS-26BX "Super Sonar;" the AN/SPS-48E radar, a three dimension, height-finding air search, computer controlled radar; and OUTBOARD, a sophisticated electronic warfare system. She is also equipped with Naval Tactical Data System (NTDS) for high speed computer processing and dissemination of tactical information.

FOX has been awarded two Meritorious Unit Citations for service in waters off North Vietnam from 12 July to 13 November 1967 and in the Persian Gulf from 24 June to 28 August 1987, the Battle "E" Ribbon (with wreath device), two Navy Expeditionary Medals for services in the Indian Ocean/Persian Gulf from 30 October 1980 to 10 March 1981 and again from 24 June to 23 July 1987, the National Defense Service Medal, two Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for service in the Persian Gulf from 24 July to 18 August 1987 and again from 6 March to 26 March 1989, Vietnam Service Medal (with two stars), Humanitarian Service Medal (with one star), Sea Service Deployment Ribbon (9 awards) and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal.

Fox is manned by a crew of 450 men and 33 officers.

THE NAME

Gustavus Vasa Fox

Born in Saugus, Massachusetts, on June 13, 1821, Gustavus Fox entered the Navy as a midshipman in 1838. He served in cruising warships, including Commodore Perry's Squadron during the Mexican-American War, the Coast Survey and finally commanded U.S. Mail steamers plying the Atlantic coastal routes. Resigning from the Navy in 1856, he entered business at Lowell, Massachusetts.

At the onset of the Civil War, he volunteered for service and received a temporary appointment as a lieutenant in the Navy. In April 1861, he was dispatched in the steamer Baltic to relieve Fort Sumter; before he could land his embarked troops, the confederate bombardments began, and after the surrender of the fort, he could only transport the remnants of Major Anderson's Command back to New York.

Fox was appointed Chief Clerk of the Navy in 1861. At President Lincoln's insistence, the office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy was created for him by congressional action in August of the same year. Fox was a forceful, outspoken individual with considerable experience in ocean going steamships and he soon gained Lincoln's confidence. By sheer force of personality, he rose to a dominant position in the direction of naval affairs within the Navy Department. Similarly, his influence in government circles afforded him a major role in the tactical, as well as strategic, direction of the naval aspects of the Union War effort.

Fox resigned his position in 1866 to represent the President on a special mission to Russia. He then returned to business in Lowell, Massachusetts, residing there until his death on October 29, 1883.

SUBJ: COMNAVSURFPAC SELF-SUFFICIENT SHIP OF THE WEEK

1. THE COMNAVSURFPAC SELF-SUFFICIENT SHIP OF THE WEEK FOR 6-12 MAR 89 IS USS FOX (CG 33).

2. WHILE DEPLOYED IN THE NORTH ARABIAN SEA, USS FOX EXPERIENCED A CATASTROPHIC FAILURE OF THE 28 BOILER SOOT BLOWER EXPANSION TANK. INVESTIGATION DEMONSTRATED THAT REPAIR OR MANUFACTURE OF A NEW EXPANSION TANK WAS NOT WITHIN SHIP'S FORCE CAPABILITIES. THE FAILURE RENDERED 28 BOILER OUT OF COMMISSION EXCEPT FOR EMERGENCY STEAMING. USS ACADIA PROVIDED A MESSAGE TECH ASSIST DELINEATING A NAVSEA AUTHORIZED ALTERNATE REPAIR METHOD THAT REPLACED THE EXPANSION TANK. FOX ENGINEERS CONDUCTED MEASUREMENTS TO ENSURE PIPING REQUIRED FOR THE REPAIR WOULD FIT. USS CONSTELLATION AND ACADIA PROVIDED MATERIALS NECESSARY FOR REPAIRS. FOX'S CODED WELDER PIECED TOGETHER SECTIONS OF PIPE AND DRAIN VALVES. A 135 PERCENT HYDROSTATIC TEST AND AN OPERATIONAL STEAM TEST WERE SATISFACTORILY CONDUCTED.

3. THE TEAMWORK, SKILL, AND "WILL-DO" DETERMINATION DISPLAYED BY FOX'S TECHNICIANS IN THE DESIGN, FABRICATION AND REPAIR OF 28 BOILER SOOT BLOWER WHILE CONDUCTING BATTLE GROUP OPERATIONS SERVE AS SUPERLATIVE EXAMPLES OF PROFESSIONALISM AND SELF-SUFFICIENCY. WELL DONE.

89 Bullets.

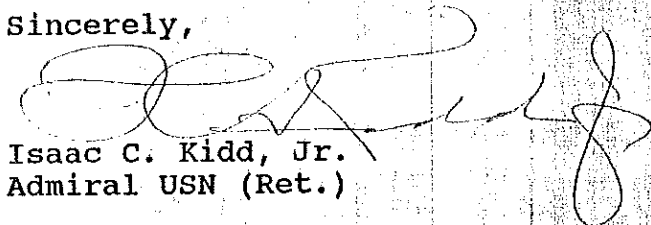

August 2, 1989

Captain Raymond W. Addicott
Commanding Officer
USS Fox (CG53)
FPO San Francisco, CA

Dear Captain Addicott:

On July 26, 1989, the officers and men of USS FOX provided an outstanding on-board tour and set of operational briefings to the wives of the Defense Science Board members. This tour provided a unique and fascinating insight into the capabilities of the surface Navy, and more importantly, it provided an opportunity for the Defense Science Board spouses to meet the most valuable Navy asset, our people. Please extend my deepest appreciation to all hands for a job well done.

Sincerely,

Isaac C. Kidd, Jr.
Admiral USN (Ret.)
